

HOME WORK

Today's high-style desks make working at home a pleasure

If working from home means pulling your chair up to a wobbly card table, a sticky kitchen counter or a yellowed-pine secretary left to you by Grandma, you need a new desk. Not only will it help organize, spatially define and update your workspace, it will give you, and your entire décor, a new attitude about going to work.

DESK DRESS-UPS

"When you create a small island of space, it becomes a statement of personal style," says Tabula Rasa's Sean Bradley about the well-dressed desk. To amp up the style of your work space, Bradley suggests adding haute accessories like the Santos de Cartier pencil cup in brown calfskin ($420). To further dress your desk, the Santos de Cartier collection also includes a spectacular pen holder, clock and magnifying glass. Available at Tabula Rasa, SLC.

Bill Sofield Collection Crawford Vanity by Baker ($12,276) from LMK Interior Design, SLC

Herman Miller Envelop Desk ($1,200) from Henriksen Butler, SLC

Ethan Allen British Classics Drop Leaf Desk ($1,599) from Ethan Allen, SLC

Stickley Writing Desk (two pieces, $2,750 each) from Forsy's Craftman House, SLC

Bel Air Desk ($5,250) from Barclay Butera, Park City

Bel Air Desk ($5,250) from Barclay Butera, Park City