Barclay Butera and the “New” Neutrals

BY CHRISTINE PHILLIPS FOR BARCLAY BUTERA INTERIORS

As Barclay Butera Interiors looks to fall design requests, more and more the clients are seeking out soft neutrals. I guess you could say things have been a little “chaotic” these past days, and we are finding nothing is more soothing and relaxing than an environment with subtle camel, white, soft sand-tan, and ivory. It’s reminiscent of the beach, and yet it is a warm and relaxing way to ease into the cooler months. And as Barclay is always influenced by fashion; he has found much inspiration in a rich camel-colored cashmere sweater, paired with white jeans and topped off with his favorite well-worn saddle leather satchel. The look is a bit rugged yet elegant and is the perfect fashion muse for Butera’s sophisticated yet comfortable style. His fresh “New” Neutrals approach to design can be seen at Barclay Butera Interiors locations. And, we think you’ll agree, this is a fabulous palette to warm up your cottage or castle...
